

Town Candidates Present Platform

Below are printed the platforms of the candidates for the six council seats on the Newmarket town council. Each candidate was asked to outline his platform in detail so that the public would have some guide in marking their ballot. (Newmarket is fortunate in that there are so many public-spirited citizens willing to offer their time, energy and ideas in the service of the municipality. —Editor.)

William E. Andrews: Because of the retirement of one and the advancement of another of our councillors of 1940, I have decided to be a candidate for the 1947 council. Most citizens realize that Newmarket is on the verge of an industrial expansion that will require careful planning and a progressive council, to acquire the best for our future. I am anxious to help achieve this end.

In our community we have many fine organizations and service clubs of which we may well be proud, and it will be, by co-operation and leadership of the highest type that we will be able to achieve a greater, prosperous, and industrious Newmarket.

I am anxious to serve to achieve this end, and would like to point out that I am not sponsored by any group and that if elected I will do my utmost for the benefit of all. Having been a resident and taxpayer for many years, I realize that my activities during that time are well known to all.

Tom Biffell: In my opinion, no man running for council for the first time can possibly present a very extensive platform to the electorate, for he knows too little of the business of the council. It is only after about six months' service on the council that he begins to understand all the ramifications of the problems of the town and can be of some service. However, like every observant taxpayer, I see many things in Newmarket that I feel can be improved.

In the first place I feel that there is an excessive amount of debris littering the streets of the town, things like broken bottles, cans, and so on, that should be cleaned up by Newmarket is ever to realize all its potential beauty.

Parking lots should be erected to relieve congested conditions on Main St. and parking restrictions should be put in force.

We should work toward better future garbage disposal. The better the town looks, the more people will come to live here. The housing shortage is acute, of course, but that will have to be amended gradually as the materials permit. Housing projects should be kept closer together if possible. We should try to make it attractive for people to build houses within the limits of Newmarket.

I think, too, that Newmarket could be advertised more as a point leading to summer resorts. I think that Davis Dr. should be another paved entrance to the town, with a sign at the highway as an advertisement. Once that is paved people will start to build, increasing the value of real estate. This town should double in size in the next few years.

Frank Bowser: I am strongly in favor of a garbage disposal plant and also of a system of municipal garbage collection. Some system must be found to replace the present one immediately. This year also something must be done about the condition of the sidewalks. There are approximately 21 miles of sidewalks in this town and they are in dire need of re-surfacing, not only to patch up cracks and holes, but also to protect the sidewalks where there are no holes. In these places the re-surfacing acts in the same way as a fresh paint job on a house, as a protection against decay. Any stretch of sidewalk should be re-surfaced about every five years. We can't do all 21 miles this year but we should be able to get enough material to do four or five miles. We should form a program to do a section of the sidewalks every year.

I am very much in favor of Mayor-elect Joseph Vale's suggestion regarding the re-introduction of the poll-tax, with a good portion of the money collected being used for recreation purposes. There should be increased recreational facilities for young people.

I am also in favor of a Memorial hall with complete recreation facilities included. I think that it should cost in the neighborhood of $300,000. Public subscription should bring in $150,000-$200,000 of this amount, with the rest being taken care of by taxes. If this plan is to be followed we should at least get the subscription contracts started this year, whether we are able to

Mrs. Caroline Edwards: My prime intention is to work for a health area in this district. A health unit would provide more efficient public health measures in Newmarket and district. By working with other municipalities, a public health service, not now within our individual means, could be afforded.

I am also extremely interested in town planning. In my opinion the town should employ a specialist to study the town, particularly in respect to the Main St. problem. The specialist would be able to give us estimates regarding the costs of the various schemes, and assist us in deciding which was the most feasible.

I am in favor of making the high school area as big as possible, so that students may have the advantages of as many courses as possible, as many as any school in Toronto.

I am in favor of the expansion of the scope of the recreation council to include more types of recreation. We should do more for the teen-agers and for the older people. This will undoubtedly involve the expenditure of more money. I feel that there should be more welfare planning, including such topics as housing, health, hospitalization, education and recreation.

H. J. Luck: I am in favor of anything that will advance the progress economically of Newmarket. By this statement I do not mean that we should not spend money, but rather that the council should spend money with a view to long range saving. Several years ago a second main street could have been put through from Park Ave. to D'Arcy St. for very little money. This might still be done but it would cost a great deal more. However, in my opinion, the solution to the parking problem still lies in putting that street through west of the town hall. At the same time the council would automatically create a new business section for the town. The increased assessment would in a few years more than pay for the project. The increased industrial expansion of the town will mean that the town will be able to support the increased business facilities.

I am also in favor of equalization of assessments at present day values. Any property that has increased in value in the past few years should have an increased assessment as well. The assessment should be used as a counterbalance to values. Taxation would be brought up to an equitable basis. The town pays the increased prices of all materials that it buys. Why should not they receive the same

Bert Morrison: The 1947 council should strive constantly for more industry because industry is the basis of growth. We cannot expect the population of the town to increase if the town is unable to support the added population. In addition, something must be done to correct the present housing shortages and to provide for these increases. In my opinion a co-operative housing plan is the solution. If the theory is accepted the details will have to be worked out.

I am also in favor of the re-organization of assessment to iron out some of the inequalities now existing. I am in favor of the organization of a Chamber of Commerce for Newmarket. I feel that we should have a hydro survey of the street lighting of the town.

I have served on the police committee for the past year and I feel that there should be closer co-operation and a closer relationship between the town police and

SANTA CLAUS HERE SATURDAY, DEC. 14

There will be a Santa Claus parade in Newmarket Saturday, Dec. 14, in the early afternoon, the exact time to be announced next week. The decision to hold the parade followed a meeting of 15 Newmarket merchants in the council chambers last Thursday afternoon.

Members of the Newmarket Home and School Association will canvass merchants for support this week. It is estimated that the cost of the parade will be $400. Industry, as well as Main St., will be canvassed. Costumes have been arranged for and floats are expected from industry.

Further details, including time and route of the parade, will be announced next week. John A. Meyer, editor, was appointed chairman and asks that any citizen with suggestions for ensuring the success of the parade contact him at The Era and Express office.

treatment on the assessments? At present the town is limited to a depression income while trying to cope with advanced prices.

Proper garbage disposal is a problem that will have to be solved by the erection of a proper incinerator or garbage disposal plant. An incinerator is the only solution to the garbage disposal problem. In the past the emphasis has been on collection rather than disposal. Too much money is spent for temporary measures which leave our problems without permanent solution. These problems are being neglected year after year, while they should be systematically solved one by one. Taxation, accommodation, and health facilities would not be the problems that they are today if they had been systematically dealt with. If we grow industrially, we must provide increased accommodation. The provision for the future demands for the health and wealth of the citizens must be the foremost objective.

Mrs. Gladys Mitchell: I feel that we should strive for better working conditions for the young people of Newmarket, as well as better working and recreation facilities for both teen-agers and young married people. There is a definite lack of recreational facilities even yet for people of this age. I will stand behind any movement for increased town planning, such as the provision of a more adequate water system. For a town of this size, our present water system could be almost classed as archaic. Better sewage disposal is also a problem that must be met this year. Our present system of sewage disposal is a disgrace to the town.

The 1947 council should do what it can to provide outlets to divert traffic from Main St. At present Main St. is a constant bottleneck and additional outlets will help to provide a feasible solution to the problem. I agree with what H. J. Luck said in his nomination speech about the equalization of assessment and I intend to back him in any plans toward this end.

However my greatest interest is in seeing that something definite is done for the returned boys. I think that they feel that while the camp was here, much was done for the boys passing through, a number of whom were conscripts. At that time we had a club that did a fine job in entertaining our fighting men, but our boys who actually did the job have not even received an official "Thank you."

Bert Morrison: The 1947 council should strive constantly for more industry because industry is the basis of growth. We cannot expect the population of the town to increase if the town is unable to support the added population. the county police. We should encourage a police education system for our own force with the assistance of county police. We should make a survey of the latest post-war police equipment with the idea of having the most modern equipment available for our force.

Aubrey G. Seythia: First, let us consider for a moment one of our main obligations, namely, veterans, their families and their dependents. I refer in particular to those veterans who as young men just out of school, with no trade and ready to establish themselves as an integral part of our society, heeded the call and gave the best years of their lives in the service of their country. Shall we shirk our obligations to them? We shall not.

Second, are we, as members of this community, to sit back and let nature take its course as regards the youth of our town who are the men and women of tomorrow? Dare we neglect this obligation that demands clean, healthful and educational recreation for these young people and, above all, a suitable place where such a program may be carried out? We shall not.

Third, Newmarket has grown industrially. Here again is an obligation that must be met. The leaders of our industries have established in Newmarket. Is it not an obligation on the part of the town as a whole to see to it that this contribution to the growth of our community is not unrecognized?

Fourth, now that Newmarket is definitely growing and shall continue to grow, we must have a sound, constructive, long term plan for the future. Snap judgments will not suffice. It is the final analysis that must be considered. This is of paramount importance to any citizen who has a stake in the future of Newmarket.

These four items represent in part my platform for election to the council. They represent in part what should be the greatest combined operation in the history of Newmarket and if elected, I will see to it that these policies are given every consideration.

POPULATION UP 209 SAYS TOWN ASSESSOR

B. W. Hunter, town assessor, has some figures indicative of the growth of Newmarket in the past year. Reading from his assessment roll, Mr. Hunter said the population of Newmarket had increased from 4,014 in 1945 to 4,223 in 1946.

The town assessment has increased $253,686 to a total of $2,642,139. Mr. Hunter said this figure did not include the new factories—the Canadian Hoffman plant and the Sangamo Electric plant—nor houses now under construction.

He said there had been over 200 property changes in the last two years.

5 CANDIDATES TO P.S. BOARD GIVE POLICIES

J. B. Bastedo: As a candidate for member of the public school board, I am pleased to accept the editor's offer to outline briefly my aims and objects regarding primary education in Newmarket.

The main requisites of a progressive, happy school are: an efficient teaching staff, well trained and under capable management; adequate and up-to-date equipment so that the teachers can give the pupils the full benefit of the various subjects and activities provided in the curriculum;

Suitable facilities for recreation and sport so that the mental, moral and physical development of the pupil may go hand in hand; good sanitary conditions will be not only healthy, but pleasant; a policy that provides for progressive expansion, so that teachers and pupils will not be handicapped by overcrowded classes. Particular attention may have to be given to this point in 1947 because Newmarket's industrial expansion will naturally be accompanied by a sharp increase in the public school population.

I believe that the chief aim of our public school system should be to provide a well-balanced, liberal education that will produce Canadian citizens who are intelligent, healthy and useful and who possess moral courage.

We have a fine public school system in Newmarket with an excellent tradition behind it. My object, if elected, will be to lend my efforts to maintain its record and go forward to even greater achievements.

L. H. Bova: I will back any measures for the advancement of our educational system in the community. The heating problem in Alexander Muir school is cleared up because of the shortage of supplies, but I will give my attention until the job is finished. I am very definitely behind Mrs. Seldon in the matter of improved lighting.

Dr. G. E. Case: The administration of the schools is the job of the school board and the rules for the administration are all in the "blue book". It will be our job to see that the administration of the schools is carried out. Other than that I have no platform.

Fred A. Hall: I believe in a certain amount of freedom for teachers to try out their own ideas. Every teacher has a pet theory about the handling of children and I think that within reason they ought to be allowed to give their theories a fair trial. Theories that after a fair trial, turn out to be of sound value, could then be exchanged and put in practice in all the classes of all the schools and everyone would benefit. Teachers ought to be encouraged to accept other people's ideas for what they are worth. In short, the board ought to offer more constructive help to teachers.

We need more men on the staff but if we are going to get them we will have to pay them salaries comparable to what they would receive in other centres. Boys in grades seven and eight won't really accept a woman's leadership and at that age they need leadership. A woman may be able to keep these boys in line by being a strong disciplinarian but she can never be a real leader. There should be at least one male teacher in each school. Someone must supervise boys' activities in the basement and it is certainly not a woman's place to do so.

Mrs. V. A. Seldon: The teachers that we have at present are good and the equipment as good as possible, but I am genuinely concerned about the classroom lighting which could be vastly improved. The hydro has had a crusade on for some time to improve lighting as a health measure. If elected, I am going to try to do something about it.

DENIES SAYING $1 WAGE WON

N. L. Mathews, K.C., termed as untrue the statement that workers in the Robson tannery in Oshawa were averaging $1 an hour following the negotiation of a contract between the International Fur and Leather Workers' local there and management.

Mr. Mathews was quoted as saying, "This increase (negotiated by the local at Oshawa) will make an average of $1 an hour for the workers in Robson tannery," in a circular which bears the words, "Issued by the International Fur and Leather Workers' Union, C.I.O., Local 460." Mr. Mathews denied that he made any such statement when queried by The Era and Express Tuesday.

The circular said in part: "Local 205, International Fur and Leather Workers' Union, C.I.O., have concluded a new agreement with Robson Leather. Some of the main gains are: Wage increases from 12 to 17 cents an hour, retroactive to Oct. 7. Improved vacations with pay plan. Time and one half overtime after nine hours in any one day. According to a statement made by N. L. Mathews, K.C., before the negotiating committee of Local 205, and International representative, this increase will make an average of $1 an hour for the workers in Robson Tannery."

Mr. Mathews' statement follows: "A circular bearing the name of Local 460, issued by the International Fur and Leather Workers Union, C.I.O., has been brought to my attention today. This circular wrongly quotes a statement alleged to have been made by me to the union negotiating committee at Robson Leather Co., Oshawa, as follows: 'This increase will make an average of $1 per hour for the workers in Robson Tannery.'"

"In the first place, I made no such statement at any time and, in the second place, any such statement would be utterly untrue, as the average wages per hour of the workers in the Robson Tannery are not $1 per hour or anything like it."

"The actual facts are: Under the new agreement just negotiated at Robson Leather Co. Ltd., it was provided that the starting rate for men should be 60 cents per hour and that this was to be increased after three months of steady employment to 65 cents per hour. The agreement further provided that there should be a range of rates for hourly-paid, male workers, after three months of steady employment, of from 65 cents to 70 cents per hour in order that the company could pay above the 65 cent rate in exceptional cases where there was special merit or in the case of certain old employees. An estimated 100 workers from the Davis Leather Co. Ltd. attended a public meeting in the Newmarket town hall Friday where they heard Ernest Smith, organizer for the Canadian Federation of Labor, urge them to retain the Newmarket Leather Workers Union as their bargaining agent and to repudiate the "Communist-led" International Fur and Leather Workers Union which is contending for the position of bargaining agency in the plant.

Davis workers will choose between the Newmarket Leather Workers and the International Fur and Leather Workers, C.I.O., by a vote under the supervision of war labor officials December 7. In the recent year, the company has had an agreement with the Newmarket Leather Workers Union but the contract has now expired.

Arthur D. Evans, president of the Newmarket Leather Workers, told the meeting that since the expiration of the contract with the company, the union committee has been meeting with the management. "I can promise you a substantial raise increase as a result of our negotiations," he declared. "There will be time and a half overtime, a second week of holidays with pay and the old age pension scheme will be discussed further."

He urged continued support of the Leather Workers Union. "We can promise these things," he said. "We know they will be undertaken. These are definite accomplishments. This is something we have. We won't have it with the other union."

Thomas Park, president of the Lakeshore Brass and Copper Workers Union at the Anaconda plant in New Toronto, described the conditions leading up to the recent five and a half months' strike there.

Mr. Park said the C.I.O. organized the plant and forced a vote although an independent union there had already begun negotiations. (Page 6 Col. 4)

RAIL RIGHT OF WAYS SAID WEED MENACE

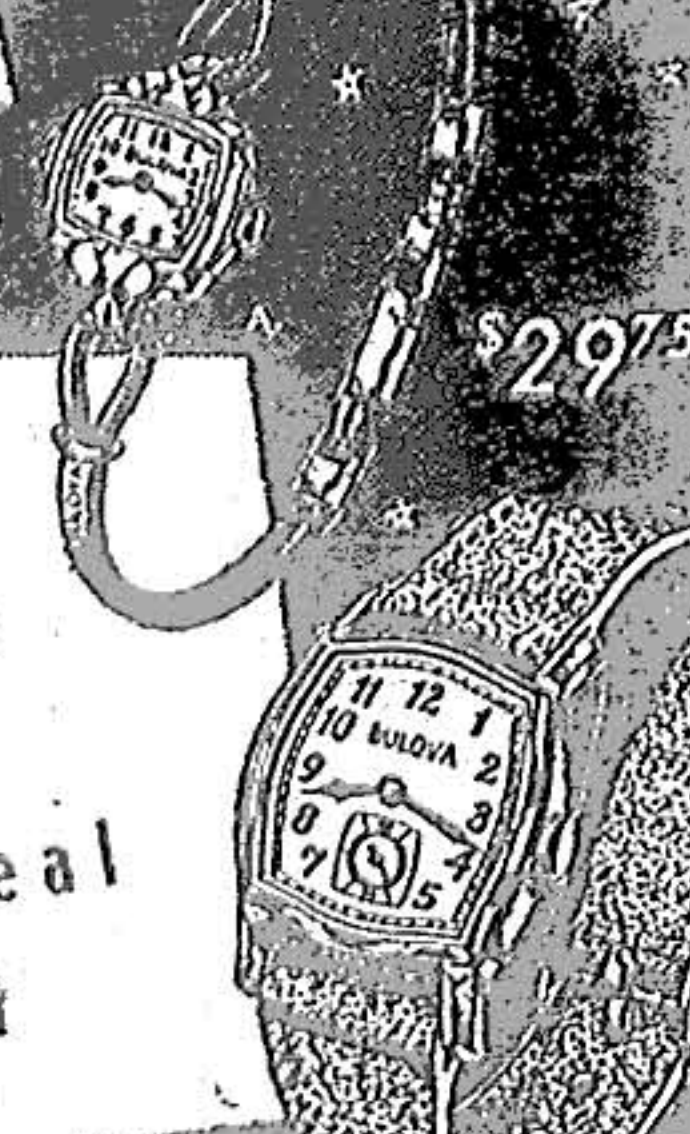

(Markham Economist)
Frank F. Marritt, Keswick, county weed inspector, presented his first report since his appointment, a recently created office, outlining the weed eradication program being carried on.
"Railway right-of-ways in the county are in bad condition and are a weed menace to agriculture lands through which they run," he reported.
"It is difficult to contact the right authority of the railroads to get action. Very few weeds were cut on railway right-of-ways in the county until late in July and August and some were not cut at all," he complained.
"Leafy spurge" and "golden bed straw," two bad weeds, are getting established in North and East Gwillimbury townships, Mr. Marritt reported. He said that farms in Manitoba have been abandoned on account of the deep-rooted perennial leafy spurge.
Golden bed straw, a rock-garden plant gone wild, will not survive in cultivated fields but takes possession of roadsides, fence rows and pasture fields where it becomes established, Mr. Marritt reported.
Reeve Charles H. Hooper, Markham township, chairman of the agriculture committee, brought in the report.

SANTA CLAUS IS COMING HERE

We had a hot argument with our next door neighbor, Miss McGinty, as to whether or not there was a Santa Claus. Miss McGinty had heard some rumor to the effect that the jolly fellow who delivers the Christmas gifts had run into some trouble up north and just wasn't going to be able to make it this year. We said there was no truth to the rumor and that she could see for herself in a few days.

The fact of the matter is that the merchants in Newmarket, having heard the same rumor, have sent an urgent message, care of Jack Frost, asking Santa to make a trip to Newmarket before Christmas Eve — when he will be coming again, naturally — to show these doubters how wrong they are. They received an answer on Thursday and so now it is all arranged. Santa will be here December 14 in person.

The old fellow was very receptive to the idea of coming to Newmarket. "I always liked the place," he said in his reply. In fact, he asked if he could bring some friends, including the pixies who work with him in the toy-making department up at the north pole. Some of the children of Mother Goose are coming too. He added a "P.S." to his letter. "Tell the children not to go bothering Postmaster Laurie Cane with extra letters to me," he wrote. "Tell them to just wait until I get there and then they can let me know what they want."

Santa can only make a short visit to Newmarket, although he said he would like to spend a longer time here, but he is pretty busy getting the final details settled before his Christmas Eve trip down all the chimneys in the world. So all you children who want to say hello to Santa Claus had better watch the paper to be sure of the right time. We'll let you know about it, don't worry.

NO NEED FOR LABOR PARTY

Mr. A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said recently: "I do not agree with our opponents that you (labor) should be neutral in the political field... (I oppose the view that labor's job is) only to produce wealth in the industrial field and let the other fellows make laws under which you work and live, and that the other fellow has all the ability to make and administer the laws." Mr. Mosher said that labor is one of the greatest forces for social improvement but that it must be united both politically and industrially. "I am hoping within the next 12 months we will be able to accomplish some co-ordination between the two labor congresses and be able to act as one unit, representing the economic power of workers in Canada."

Mr. Mosher's remarks are indicative of a trend in political life which should be fought. In the excerpts quoted above, is evidence that Mr. Mosher is thinking in terms of a Canadian labor party, designed to serve first the interests of the working man.

YOUTH MIGRATES TO GREENER PASTURES

We have already made one reference to the speaker at the Newmarket Lions club meeting a week ago Monday, and now we refer to him again. The fact of the matter is that the speaker, Dr. P. B. Rynard, a former district boy and now living in Barrie, put so much meat into his remarks to the Lions club that he is worth referring to more than once.

Dr. Rynard told the Lions club that he estimated that Canada exports annually $25,000,000 worth of trained young people in the form of university graduates, technicians, junior executives, and other skilled personnel.

We see another reference of this migration of young people in a news report of a conference of welfare, educational, and government representatives being held under the auspices of the Canadian Youth Commission. Dr. Sidney Smith, principal of the University of Toronto, found in the migration of young people to the United States a suggestion that in the post-war period, Canada has "already" failed to make its young people feel they belong here.

From the short news item, we gather that Dr. Smith's diagnosis of the cause of the migration is on a broader basis. Further speculation is curtailed by the brevity of the news report, but it is evident that the annual departure of thousands of young Canadians to the greener pastures to the south is not an export which should be encouraged.

WHY NOT BOND LAKE FOR WATER?

Last week, we referred to a suggestion of Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales that water for municipalities south of Lake Simcoe be piped from the lake, when considering the difficulties facing Mount Albert. From a reader comes the suggestion that water be piped, not from Lake Simcoe, but from Bond Lake.
Our correspondent remembers being told by an engineer that there was sound evidence of a subterranean river flowing between Lake Simcoe and Bond Lake, pointing to the number of artesian wells in a line between the two lakes as the most obvious proof. A subterranean river would ensure a constant supply of water and it might be cheaper to pipe it from Bond Lake instead of Lake Simcoe.

In any event, the cause of this discussion still remains. It is becoming increasingly difficult to supply the growing centres of Newmarket and Aurora, and other municipalities with adequate water. Suggested alternatives to wells — and springs which were not feasible years back, might be worth looking at in the light of an increased need for water and modern engineering techniques.

THE WOES OF AN EDITOR

The woes of the editor are many and not the least were those which beset us last week. Too much material for too little space was the cause of most of the trouble. Some mental confusion on the part of the editor helped. We had our votes mixed, for example, in one editorial where we set the municipal voting date as Monday, Dec. 7. The Davis Leather Co. vote is Dec. 7 — this Saturday — but the municipal elections are next Monday, Dec. 9. We hope no one was misled.

One of the problems of printing the editorial page ahead of the front page was also demonstrated quite well last week. In one editorial, we made reference to a news story of three men who are building their own homes. If we remember, we wrote to the effect that the story "was elsewhere in this issue." Unfortunately, when it came time to put the story on the front page, there just wasn't room and it had to be left out along with a number of other news items.

We are sure that the story is in this issue, along with the picture of the cast of the Newmarket Dramatic Club production of Here Comes Charlie, and other items there just wasn't room for. We are sorry we had to leave the items out but no one yet has invented a way to shrink type nor stretch the metal forms.

CANADA NEEDS LARGER POPULATION

There has been much discussion about whether or not Canada should increase its population by opening its borders to more immigrants. At the present time, entry into Canada by immigration is restricted, as is the case with most countries. Even during the war, that policy was generally adhered to despite the plight of refugees from the Nazi war machine.

A recent Gallup poll on the question: "Would you like to see Canada have a much larger population, or do you think the present population is just about right?" saw the majority of answers in favor of increasing the population. Asked what was needed most, a large majority of replies favored farm workers.

In this connection, the recent arrival of Polish veterans as farm help in this district lends local interest to the question. One farmer, who has a Polish veteran working for him, was loud in his praise of the federal government for bringing the Poles here to relieve the farm help shortage. He is bitter when he recalls how part of his crop was lost, because native Canadians would not work on his farm at five and six dollars a day although not otherwise employed.

To this farmer, the arrival of the Poles means that he will have help to enable him to continue to produce. To another farmer, however, the arrival of the Poles represents a threat to better wages for native Canadians. The contract between each farmer employer and his Polish help reads that the farmer must pay the prevailing wage with a minimum of $45 a month. Either the protesting farmer feels the $45 minimum too low or else he anticipates a threat in the future when the Poles, released from their contracts, will accept work at lower wages thus driving downwards the general wage level of farm help.

The position of these two farmers in their stand towards the Poles is indicative of the general view towards increased immigration into Canada. On one hand, there is the memory of the '30's when there wasn't sufficient work for Canada's workmen, with fear of how much worse it will be with a larger population should those days come again. On the other hand, there is the picture of work going a-begging because of either an outright shortage of help or because the men who could fill those jobs prefer the benefits of government provided security, or else are too particular to take any kind of work.

There is another aspect to broadening immigration laws which is of greater importance than the above. Canada is a major exporting nation. Canadian prosperity is dependent upon world markets. Thirty-five cents of every Canadian dollar comes from the export trade. Loss of markets abroad means an immediate reduction of Canadian revenue by one-third.

At the same time, despite its great productive capacity and its national resources, Canada is the second most sparsely populated country in the world. Its population is concentrated in a strip along its southern border. In the past, it was unprofitable to live and work elsewhere. Developments in machinery and methods, the need for new materials, has changed that. Now it is said, Canada's destiny is in its north.

The Newmarket Lions club heard a speaker last week tell them that the Peace River district could support another half million people. The same speaker spoke of the plains of Alberta where proper irrigation methods were bringing into existence new farm lands where before there had only been arid plains. Other parts of Canada, once deemed useless except to make Canada look larger on maps, have been opened up by 20th century pioneers using bulldozers and planes instead of ox-cart and schooner.

Here there is room for uncultivated thousands who could provide a growing domestic market without infringing on the prosperity of native Canadians. The settlement of these new lands, the more productive use of old areas, is the answer to Canada's one-sided economy. Some may see immigration desirable from a humane point of view, or to merely meet the needs of the moment. But the fact is, immigration is necessary if Canada is going to protect itself against a collapse of international trade.

We have been coasting on the production of first, trade in the munitions of war, and secondly, trade in immediate post-war requirements. Other countries are catching up and while international regulation of trade may be ahead, there is no indication of its being a reality for some years. In the meantime, Canada's best interests demand a larger population.

THE COMMON ROUND

By Isaac Lewis Colville

I always think when I read of someone climbing a flag pole and sitting there for no earthly reason, even if he dignifies it by the title of endurance test, that there is something amiss with the mentality of the climber. But when a cat determines to do something along the same line, not altogether understanding the feline brain, I don't know what to call it.

On one of the coldest and windiest nights we have had in the last week or two, the other half of the family and I went dutifully off to choir practice which we enjoyed with no premonition of the sinister event taking place at home.

When we were leaving for home everyone was saying, shivering, "how cold it is, and the wind rising," and we all thought with pleasure of our warm homes.

But alas for our hopes. As we left the garage Beauty met us, and wept and wailed and refused to be comforted. "Where is Buster?" demanded the man of the house, for Buster, black son of Amos, is his particular pet. Beauty, naturally, only said "Meow," and stared at the house. Then a pitiful wailing made itself heard above the wind in the pine trees.

"That's Buster," we both cried together, while Beauty contributed a sarcastic "meow," as much as to say "I told you so." "You go into the house," said friend husband, "and I'll take the flashlight and explore." "Why didn't you take better care of your nephew?" I asked Beauty, who only looked the contempt she felt and demanded out to join in search.

I could hear Buster being called but as time went on and no husband and no Buster appeared I began to think I'd have to join in the search. Just then the door opened and a disgruntled man appeared with Beauty tagging along in the rear.

"That cat," said he, "do you know where he is?" "Well hardly," said I, "or I would have tried to get him."

"Oh, would you?" remarked my husband bitterly, "you get him! You who cannot go up two steps on a ladder without getting dizzy!"

"But where is he?" I asked meekly, seeing it was a sore subject.

"On the highest point of the roof beside the west chimney and he won't stir, and I don't dare go up in the dark."

"Well," said I, as consoling as I could, "maybe he'll come down when he's hungry."

"Maybe," said my husband skeptically, and on this note we retired to bed, wondering as the wind grew stronger and frost ferns showed on the windows, what the poor, fat, black cat was doing on his lofty perch.

Day dawned, colder still, but the other half of the family announced as soon as breakfast was over that he was going after Buster.

"For pity's sake be careful," I begged. "I thought my days for roof climbing were over," he answered, "but here goes." In a few minutes I saw the long ladder being set up, and heard mysterious sounds, suggestive of Santa Claus, on the roof.

Then I saw the ladder gradually being drawn up on the roof and suddenly there was a tremendous crash. My heart stood still. I was afraid to go out and look.

Now silence reigned, punctuated at long intervals by calls of "Buster,"—this in tone varying from pleading to something more suggestive of rage. At last, I heard the welcome sound of the wanderer's returning, and in came Archie bearing in his arms a very black and thoroughly unrepentant cat, which, with no apologies or explanations, retired at once to his plate and devoured food as if nothing else in the world mattered.

He and Beauty lead us a life which cannot be called stagnant. They have no respect for man or his belongings, being imbued with the idea that the house is theirs and we are here on sufferance.

One morning, glancing into the living-room, I saw some-

a contented song.
The Christmas cactus attracts them, and I am afraid they have disposed of the buds. They're little witches, but they're clean and they're loving; they're funny and give us a circus for the asking; and to see them lie before the fire wrapped in each other's arms, adds a cosy touch to a winter's evening.

Young Hopefuls

John Has The Best Of It
John and Bill are 14 years old and cousins. John lives in a small town; Bill lives in the city. For years these cousins have felt a difference existed in their personal status because of the differences in their small town and city lives. They used to argue a great deal of the time—each bragging about "what we have at home" and "what I have at my school," etc., etc.

Lately, however, John and Bill have been meeting on more friendly and equal terms. John doesn't feel in the least inferior to Bill any more and Bill has dropped his "smarter" attitude toward John. Both boys enjoy visiting each other and are now old enough to appreciate what the other sees and likes in his place of living. Bill is actually agreeing with John that there is more fun in a small town.

The small town really offers the best life for children. They have more room to live and play. The small town provides better air, better light, more peace and quiet, generally, and enough very handy social life to keep children excited about life in general.

The large cities offer the opportunities of museums, libraries, and theatres; but how many children and how often, are allowed the privilege of taking advantage of these opportunities? The enquiring mind, whether from a small town or a city will eventually explore these realms, anyway.

Culturally, the city children are at a great disadvantage because so few of them can satisfy their hunger for the country—too few can experience the inspiring environment of a small town community life.

One of the greatest advantages of living in a small town is the opportunity it affords to its residents to contribute of themselves toward making their home a better place in which to live and raise their families.

IF WE ONLY HAD MORE TIME FOR CHRISTMAS

By GOLDEN GLOW

Already our shop windows are glowing with wonderful Christmas gifts and intriguing Christmas decorations. We all hope the soft coal strike will not affect our electric lighting system so that we will not be able to have lighted shop windows and signs, and above all, our delightful Christmas trees which bloom only once a year.

It has now become a tradition to have the lighted Christmas trees inside our homes or just inside a sun-room, or inside a front window. Naturally, we look for them in their accustomed places. The glowing lights, and the greenery of the Christmas tree, have something so fascinating about them—ruby and emerald and sapphire with an occasional light of amber or topaz.

Already Christmas music is coming over the air from many stations. Why, oh why, does the time have to fly so quickly, and keep us all in a scramble when we would like more and more time to enjoy every minute. No doubt the children are writing their accustomed letters to Santa Claus, and listening to his broadcasts over the radio. Excitement will run high from now till Dec. 25, when we will all come back to earth with a bang.

Housewives are extra busy over Christmas goodies. Youngsters are being particularly thoughtful about helping out, and are being very, very good with the thought of what Santa will bring them if they behave. Odd shaped parcels are being quietly slipped into the home to be put away until Christmas eve when the stockings are filled, Christmas lists and pocket-books get careful study, and if you do not write down what you have wrapped up—so carefully for this one or that, I bet you will have to unwrap several to see what is in them and who they are for. We have so much on our minds we just can't remember!

The young people nowadays are so expert at wrapping the Christmas parcels—Christmas parcels look so attractive you hate to break the seals and untie the Christmas ribbons even though you are eager to see what's inside.

I really think we should give our Newmarket merchants the praise due them for such an attractive Main St. We certainly do not need to go to Toronto to do our shopping—in fact I heard about several who were from the city who did their Christmas shopping right here. In one case, I was treated to a preview. A friend from Toronto was here over the weekend and she had bought a few pieces of plastic furniture to help furnish a doll's house for her small granddaughter, so she showed them to us. They were delightful, so very dainty, and each piece perfect in its way. There was a dining-room suite, table and chairs, the seats in a royal blue, and a buffet as well. Then for the kitchen there was an electric stove, a sink—taps and all—and a refrigerator, all perfect in design and workmanship. There was bathroom furniture—and our friend wanted a little china doll to put in the tiny bath-tub but none of us knew where to get one. Nonetheless, one little girl is going to be overjoyed, I know.

Every shop window up and down Main St. has put on its Christmas dress, and if a person can't find what he wants, I am sure he must be hard to please. For a town the size of Newmarket, our shops can compare with those anywhere, I know. Good old Newmarket!

The directors of the Davis Leather Co. tendered a complimentary entertainment in the town hall on Friday afternoon to the president, Hon. E. J. Davis, and the employees with their wives, the occasion being the 70th birthday of Mr. Davis. About 500 people were present and a very enjoyable program was provided by Toronto talent.

A delightful play was given at the parish hall of the Anglican church last Tuesday night. The cast was composed of Miss Staunton, Miss Marjorie Morris, Miss Flossie Moore, Mr. L. Reilly and Mr. John Smith. There was a good attendance and the proceeds were used to provide prizes for the Sunday-school scholars.

An educational convention by York County Trustees and Ratepayers' Association was held here on Wednesday in the town hall. Trustees and ratepayers from all parts of the county attended. The afternoon addresses of welcome were given by Mayor W. H. Eves and Reeve Keith.

The fire hall and council chamber are now fitted with electric lights.

The Bicycle Club and the clerk of the weather did not come to terms last week. It rained all day and the crowd at the concert was very small. The Bicycle Club deserves credit for the concerts it gives and we hope that next year it will have better weather and a full house.

ACTIVE YEAR AHEAD FOR NEWMARKET FANS

By GEORGE HASKETT

Hockey appears to be headed for one of the most successful seasons in years in Newmarket if plans and organization have anything to do with it. The Newmarket Vets' team, O.H.A. Intermediate B club, has been travelling by bus and car for several weeks to Barrie and Toronto for practice sessions and has had between 20 and 30 out for every practice. Doug May, assisted by Larry Molyneux, is looking after the coaching chore and has plenty of material to select from by the looks of it.

The former Newmarket merchants' team, this year to travel under the "Hoffman Machinery Co." name, has had two or three practice sessions to date and looks to have a strong team rounded up with such stars as Joe Peat, Bohmer Groves and Roy "Mutt" Collings from last year's Zephyr Blues out with them. Joe Megani from Bradford is also out and added to last season's roster, should make a strong club. Ken Howard is president of the club, Johnny Campbell will handle the manager's job and Father T. F. McCabe, who coached the Orangeville O.H.A. junior C champions a couple of years back, will do the coaching.

The merchantile league held its annual organization meeting recently with Jimmy Walker being returned as president for another season. Aubrey Seythes and Bert Peterman are vice-presidents and Geo. Haskett is secretary-treasurer.

The Junior C club is also ready to take its place as an O.H.A. entry and in all probability will be grouped in with Aurora, Richmond Hill, Bradford and Stouffville, if plans under-way materialize.

The Newmarket Midgets are organized and ready to try their luck in Ontario minor hockey association group if it can be arranged with Aurora and Bradford.

The executive officers for the coming season for junior hockey are: president, James B. Walker; vice-president, Bill Haskett; secretary-treasurer, Geo. Haskett; manager, Fred Hall; coach, Harry Thoms; assistant coach, Joe Peat; transportation committee, Eddie Gibson.

The junior squad, with the midgets, is at present rounding into shape with gym work and road work under the able supervision of Recreation Director Alf. "Mickey" Smith at the arena. It is also hoped that as soon as ice becomes available at Barrie or Toronto, the juniors will take to the ice for a workout. All indications point to a banner year for hockey in the hub of North York.

WHY WORRY?

The young wife was feeling and looking gloomy.

"What's the trouble, dear?" her friend, a wife of ten years' standing, inquired.

"Oh—my husband has been out all the evening and I haven't the faintest idea where he is."

"Oh, you shouldn't worry about that," her friend replied, breezily. "You'd probably be twice as miserable if you did."

Forum Condemns Methods In Ottawa Spy Arrests

"Are Canadians in danger of losing their civil liberties?" was the question discussed by the Newmarket Citizens' Forum at its weekly meeting last Friday evening. The case of the espionage trials was advanced and regarded from all angles. Every one deplored the presence of traitors and is agreed that when they are found, swift and severe punishment should be their reward.

However, the conduct of this case elicited considerable criticism and it was felt that the case did not warrant the extreme measures taken to arrest and hold suspected persons, contrary to the laws of the land and the fundamentals of British justice. It was that the law presumes a man innocent until proven guilty, every arrested person is entitled to counsel and other privileges in order to meet his accusers on equal ground. This practice was followed in Great Britain in this case instance, yet Canadian officials shamefully violated these principles, holding persons uncommunicated and apparently subjected to a mild form of torture, the forum found.

The question was raised: Are the alleged betrayers of official secrets any worse than those officials who criminally violated individual rights that have been the privilege of every citizen for generations? Here was established a dangerous and sinister precedent and the perpetrators of it should be removed from public office, it was said.

Another instance of serious violation of civil rights is the case of the Japanese-Canadians. Here, it was learned, is a group who have an enviable crime record. They were denied the privilege of enlisting and thus were unable to give convincing proof of their loyalty. Their property in B.C., placed in the hands of a public custodian, was shamefully disposed of at disgusting prices. Gestapo methods were used to obtain their signatures to forms applying for a return to Japan. Canada cannot rid herself of a moral responsibility to these persons whom she accepted and who were born under the British flag, it was stated. Civil liberties were destroyed, the rights of the individual were threatened. A vigorous, well-formed public opinion may well prevent further aggression, the forum declared.

Polls Open 9 A.M. - 6 P.M. For Council, By-Law Vote

Aurora electors on Monday will vote between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. to elect six councillors, and to approve or defeat the by-law to provide the Aurora public school board with the right to spend up to $285,000 for a new public school. For the first time in municipal history here, although it has happened previously in federal elections, Aurora will have a woman returning officer in the person of Mrs. A. M. Clarke, who will preside in ward 5.

'Vote On Monday' B. Of T. President Urges

"I urge every citizen to get out and use his vote on Monday," Dr. E. J. Henderson, president of the Board of Trade, stated on Wednesday. "I like to see people appreciate their responsibilities as citizens, and show an interest in civic affairs."

"Personally, I am in favor of a new public school and will vote for the by-law. A new school is badly needed, and I am not in favor of building at once, with prices high, but it is plain this won't be done and the school will be built at the right time and at a reasonable figure. The board needs a vote of confidence from the public to carry on all the details. It will be a serious set-back if the by-law is defeated. I would rather see the by-law won or lost by a heavy vote, so there can be no doubt of what the people want."

Voting places and election officials are as follows:

Ward 1, Queen's Hotel, returning officer, James Murray, poll clerk, Jas. Race; Ward 2, Salvation Army hall, returning officer, W. H. Taylor, poll clerk, R. LeHeup; Ward 3, Trinity parish hall, returning officer, J. C. Thompson, poll clerk, W. J. Merchant; Ward 4, Frankcom's House, returning officer, William Dunning, poll clerk, Earl Fielding; Ward 5, Clarence Doolittle's house, returning officer, Mrs. A. M. Clarke, poll clerk, Robert Rank.

Voters in Wards 2, 3 and 5 are requested to note the new addresses for polling booths, from those of other years.

FETE LACROSSE TEAM

On Saturday evening, a banquet is being given members of the Aurora midget lacrosse team by Branch 385, Canadian Legion, in appreciation of the sportsmanship, and fine play of the youngsters over the season. Members of the branch who desire to attend should notify the secretary, T. A. M. Hulse, prior to Saturday so space may be reserved.

Fire Loss To Town $2,070, Chief Harry Jones Reports

Aurora's fire loss for 1946 amounts to $2,070, representing 20 calls made by the Aurora fire brigade to fires in town. In the majority of the calls, the brigade moved so fast there was no damage done, Fire Chief Harry Jones reported to council on Monday night.

Outside fires took up more of the brigade's time as 38 calls were answered under the retaining agreements with King and Whitechurch townships. There were 20 calls to Whitechurch and 13 to King, and three gratis calls on the highway to aid motorists whose vehicles had caught fire. The returns to the municipality in outside fees will be the highest in 1946 of any year.

Fire drills conducted at the schools saw over 350 public school children vacated from the building in one minute and nine and one-half seconds, and over 300 pupils at the high school quit the school in 58 seconds. Both times were termed excellent by the chief.

Chief Jones pointed out that, despite his recommendations, no hydrant had been secured for Ross St., and he pointed out the danger in this area due to oil storage tanks. Council promised to pass this matter on to the 1947 members.

The annual fire department grants were made: $500 to the brigade, $50 to Chief Jones, $50 to the mechanic of the fire truck.

Linton, Devins Urge Strong Vote On School Question

"We had a splendid meeting on Tuesday night, and there wasn't a word of disapproval of a new school," Dr. C. J. Devins, chairman of the Aurora public school board, said on Wednesday. "Everyone was convinced we need a new school and that the town financially can afford it. I hope all those in favor of the by-law and giving our children safety and the best school conditions possible; will turn out and vote. Those opposed are not saying much, but will doubtless be out in force to vote. Opposition comes because the financial picture is not properly understood, and it is impossible to reach all the people with a true representation of the situation. It will not be sufficient to have the by-law carry by a bare majority. Your school board members, who are all in favor of the by-law, want a resounding majority, and the green light to go ahead with the plans."

"We want everyone to give us their views on the school by-law by way of the ballot box on Monday," said Mayor Ross Linton, urging the electors to come out and vote. "There is no doubt we need a new school, and on the other hand, building costs are away above what they were even two years ago, as much as 42 percent higher according to Ottawa. My personal view is that we should go ahead with a four-room school without delay, and add to it later when financial and building costs are down. We will probably be able to obtain a federal grant in a few years as well as the grant from the province. I know neither the school board nor council want to build on a cost plus basis, and I am sure all want to keep down the costs. Whatever the decision of the voters may be, it is better to have a good majority vote."

FORMER AURORANS DIE AT ST. MARY'S

Two residents of St. Mary's, Ontario, well known in Aurora, died within the week. One was Frank Smith, pharmacist, born in Aurora and educated at Aurora schools and the Ontario College of Pharmacy. He was the husband of the former Myrtle Towns, Aurora. Mr. Smith had been in business in St. Mary's for many years and was highly respected.

The other was Mrs. Rachel Ann Towns, nonagenarian and mother of Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Towns resided here for many years with her husband, the late Chauncey Towns, and was active in the affairs of Aurora United church. Interment was at St. Mary's on Wednesday.

The board with its architect, met the town council and discussed the situation with them and every member, including the mayor, by a show of hands led us to believe we had the go-ahead signal. The mayor assured us the town's finances were in good shape why, then, all this hedging and backsliding now? Our plans have not changed.

The board does not intend to waste its money and yours, but it does want the opportunity to complete a building, as soon as materials and costs are right.

Can we afford to pass up the government's present offer of approximately 50 percent of the costs as the debentures come due? Or when can we expect to borrow money at such a favorable low rate? Think it over.

We have a good plan. The need is great. We cannot indefinitely continue to use our present old, inadequate set-up.

Did it ever strike you that the extra tax needed would be about 25 cents a week on an ordinary assessment of say $2,000, the price of a good cigar or an ice cream sundae.

Our town is bound to grow under good leadership and we must be prepared for that growth.

As a life-long resident of Aurora, and one who has served on the board for over 30 consecutive years, I solicit your vote in favor of the school debenture by-law. Vote "Yes", and work for it.

D. J. (Dan) Webster.

Candidates Offer Platform

Following are the platforms of Aurora town council candidates who took advantage of the offer of the editor to print their platforms as a public service:

John Sisman: In being a candidate for council, I am fully aware of the responsibilities that are involved, and I stand ready to give whatever time and consideration is necessary to see the interests of all persons in the community are fairly considered. I believe a young man is needed on council, and can contribute to the welfare of the town. Nineteen forty-seven should be a big year in Aurora's history if a progressive, energetic council is elected.

Stewart Patrick: I have no promises to make, but am prepared to stand on service given. If re-elected I will do all in my power to make Aurora a better town.

Charles Davies: I have been a resident of Aurora for 31 years, and in offering myself as a candidate this year, I feel I have a real knowledge of the needs of Aurora and what has been done in the past. Now is the time for progressive action and thought if Aurora is to expand. I will give the affairs of the town the same attention I give to my business and personal problems, keeping in mind the need to keep down the tax rate.

A. N. Fisher: I have had the privilege of serving you on the town council for the past six years and it has been my aim to use my very best judgment on all matters for the good of the town and people as a whole. I am not especially anxious to be on council another year, but if you wish me to serve you again I assure you I will put my very best efforts behind the things that will be best for the people as a whole.

Dr. Crawford Rogers: To the four essential qualifications of a public servant which I enunciated at the nomination meeting, I would add a fifth: sincerity in its broadest sense. His duty is not to himself alone nor to any group from whom he would curry favor, but to the community as a whole. We want you to agree that an all-out effort is being made to put and keep Aurora "on the map" among thriving Ontario towns, but not by wasting one dollar of the taxpayers' money. Provision for today, and planning for tomorrow, should be our motto in 1947.

Thomas F. Swindle: In the last year I served on your council, I sponsored the installation of the warning signals at the Wellington St. crossing, started the move to install the traffic light, and originated the agitation for better waiting-room facilities for bus passengers.

As a member of the sports committee, I helped organize the schedule for sports activities in the ball park and rink, and also helped stage the successful ice follies in aid of the soldiers' eager fund.

I advocated greater efficiency in the administration of our town affairs, especially in the streets department.

If elected, I will work for a more aggressive sports program, including greater sports facilities, more industries, adjustment of assessment, and more consideration of public welfare. Aurora needs a more representative council.

With many elections already over and others scheduled for Monday or later in the month, the wheels of county council politics are in action again.

Candidates for the wardenship of the county are Reeve Charles Hooper, Markham township, Reeve Boynton Weldrick, Vaughan township, both of whom have been acclaimed, while Reeve William Pugsley, Sutton West, if returned to office on Monday, will have his hat in the ring. All three are veterans of municipal life and have held the office of county commissioner. Reeve Hooper, who is in his early 30's, is generally regarded as having a slight edge in the straw vote poll over his other opponents.

Two county commissioners are to be elected and generally one comes from above North York township, "north of the Mason-Dixon line", as retiring warden F. G. Gardiner calls it and one from the southern municipalities. Reeve C. E. Sparks of Aurora has already announced his candidature for one post and also rumored as potential candidates for this office are Reeve Lorne Goodfellow, King, and Reeve John D. Sibbald, Georgina. All three are safe in their 1946 seats. Reeve Elmer Brandon, Swains, is generally regarded as the most likely aspirant from the south.

Three Candidates Said Seeking 1947 Wardenship

Nominations for the third member to the Aurora school board, necessitated by lack of sufficient candidates at nomination meeting, will be held on Monday, Dec. 15, from 7 to 8 p.m. at the municipal building. Town Clerk Harold Clark has announced.

If more than one candidate is named and an election ensues, it will be held on New Year's Day.

Indications are that several aspirants for the seat are now likely to be nominated and a contest may follow.

Morrison was paid $3,357.50 for work done on the Edward St. sewers. Engineering fees on the project paid to W. B. Redfern amounted to $441.21. The extension of the water system will be carried to completion as soon as possible.

NEWMARKET York Lowers Debt 25 Percent In 14 Years

(Markham Economist)

During the past 14 years, every year of which there has been a balanced budget, no new debentures have been issued and the debt has been decreased from $1,600,000 to $400,000, a reduction of $1,200,000, within York county.

These facts were revealed by Wilbur W. Gardhouse, county treasurer, during the November session of county council.

Eight departments, including juvenile-family court, mother's allowance, municipal government, old age pensions, reforestation, board of county valuation and treasury office were all well within their budgets for the ten months period just completed.

Only four departments were slightly overspent, including administration of justice, clerk's office, county property and hospitalization, the latter being up 26 percent amount. Expenditures in this department equalled 83 percent of the budget for the year, the ten-month portion being equivalent to 83.33 percent.

The treasurer explained in this connection that indigent hospital costs are up due in part to the increased per diem rates for maintenance and the inclusion this year of the county hospitalization costs for residents. Hospitalization expenditures for the ten-month period equalled $62,284.72 of a $70,000 budget.

NEWMARKET Send Christmas Mail Early, Postmaster Says

Postmaster Laurie Cane issued his annual warning to "mail Christmas parcels and letters at an early date so that delivery will be in time for Christmas" this week.

Mail for the United States should be posted not later than December 9; for British Columbia, before December 14; Alberta and Saskatchewan, before December 15; Manitoba and Maritime, before December 16; Ontario and Quebec, before December 17.

For guaranteed delivery, local mail should be posted not later than December 18.

Other suggestions to speed Christmas mail are to write addresses legibly, see that letters addressed to cities always have on them the name of street and street number, use standard size envelopes and pack parcels well to prevent them from breaking open.

NEWMARKET 10 Chicken Pox Cases Reported Here In Nov.

There were ten reported cases of chicken pox in Newmarket last month, according to the report of the public health nurse, Miss Helen B. Gardner. Three of the cases were pre-school children, seven were school children. Four conferences on child health were held by Miss Gardner with a total attendance of 47.

Forty-four children received their second treatment in a series of immunization clinics. Twenty-five visits were made to the schools where four first aid treatments were given by Miss Gardner. Three children were excluded from school after examination; 12 received special physical examinations; 13 received vision tests; seven rooms were examined in connection with communicable diseases; three children were found to have head defects; three children had defects corrected; ten conferences were held with teachers.

Dental cards have been distributed to the pupils in seventh grade who had not been to the family dentist this year and to a number in the eighth grade.

A total of 176 visits were made to homes or received at the nurse's office.

"It is not my policy or desire as a solicitor for Davis Leather Co. Ltd. to take any part in the controversy between the two competing unions in this plant but, when the International Fur and Leather Workers Union uses my time in support of false propaganda which may deceive the workers at this plant, I think it is my duty to repudiate such statements and to give you the true facts."

"If the International Fur and Leather Workers Union deems it necessary to publish false statements in order to influence votes, that is their own business; but, when they decide for the second time during the campaign to bring my name in as supposedly supporting such false statements, then it becomes my business and I am entitled to denounce such tactics."

Moment Musical

THE MUSICIANS' CORNER
By H. G. Fowler, Mus. Ed.
Supervisor, Newmarket public school music,
Organist, chalmaster, Trinity United Church

"Here Comes the Band"
Everybody likes to see a parade, but what is a parade without a band? It just happens like an automobile with a flat tire. But given a good band and the whole procession swells smartly down the street with true military precision. A band is always fascinating to young and old, with its bright uniforms, flashing horns and the "boom, boom, boom" of the big bass drum. We find the rhythm of the martial music irresistible. It makes us want to do something with our feet besides stand along the road and let the music fade away in the distance.

The story of band music stretches back over the years of conflict and conquest among the nations of the earth. Its merits, however, are by no means limited to military displays. As a medium of concert music from the works of the great composers, the brass and silver bands have established themselves securely in the last quarter century.

Along with many of our readers, it has been the privilege of the writer to hear concerts by the really great bands of United States and England, thanks to the Canadian National Exhibition. Such names as Sousa, Pryor, Creatore, Goldman, Scots Guards, Grenadier Guards, Kneller Hall and the Royal Air Force Bands stand for the finest in concert band music.

We have a fine band in Newmarket which has given a good account of itself on many occasions. This would have been impossible without regular and diligent practice and the inspiration of good leadership. As a community we are all indebted to those citizens who labor so faithfully and well to make this achievement possible. Keep up the good work and let us hear from you more often. Strike up the band!

Stouffville Tribune Decries Formation Of H.S. Areas

The Stouffville Tribune opposes the formation of the high school areas, such as the one recommended by the Newmarket high school board and approved by the Newmarket town council recently. The Stouffville Tribune sees in the formation of a high school area in the Stouffville district the possibility that the Stouffville high school will be closed.

The following appeared in the November 28th issue of the Tribune under the heading: "Department of Education still out to throttle the smaller high schools; Believe fooling 50 percent of educational costs is proving 'hot potato' for provincial government — trying to unload at expense of smaller places like Stouffville."

"The Ontario department of education still has its man, Gordon L. Duffin (Mr. Duffin has addressed several gatherings in Newmarket; he represents the provincial department of education and is in the nature of a 'field man') travelling over the province preaching the destruction of many of our continuation and high schools which over the years have been the very centre of social and education life in the country."

"The same government that pays Mr. Duffin to go out preaching this doctrine of centralization, also recommends decentralization of industry from the cities to the country."

"There is a strong suspicion that the department of education

C.F.L. MEETING

tions for wage increases. The C.I.O. met with the management and at the first meeting, got nowhere, he said. "There was a second meeting and then a strike."

Mr. Park said the C.I.O. negotiating committee had pulled the men out of the plant without first consulting the workers and the workers were out 24 weeks. "The average worker there lost $1,025 in wages," he said. "The strike was settled with an increase of 12 1/2 cents an hour, less than what we would have gotten had negotiations been allowed to continue."

He said 65 cents of every $1 dues paid to the C.I.O. union at Anaconda was sent to the United States.

"The Canadian Federation of Labor is run by Canadians for Canadians," said Mr. Park. "Canada is the only country in the world which hasn't its own trade union movement. We are run by international unions." Referring to strikes, he said "work stoppages now are not fair to our own people. It's a crime that shortages are aggravated by strikes. There is no need for strikes when management and the union can work out an agreement without strikes."

"At Anaconda, six men on an executive committee put 1,300 out of work. The strike was called without consulting the men. The first thing they knew of the strike was when the new shift came on and there was a picket at the door."

The strikers were promised relief, Mr. Park said, "but I have four letters on file at home of men who applied for relief and couldn't get it." Mr. Park denounced what he called "the undemocratic methods" employed by the C.I.O. organizer. "Three of us challenged statements made by the C.I.O. organizer and when there was a general meeting, we weren't allowed in despite the fact we were members in good standing."

Mr. Smith said that most important to the worker was freedom of association. "It is something the worker cannot do without," he said. "What sort of a choice is there when a worker applies not to the boss but to the union for a job like you do in a closed shop?"

If the workers at Davis Leather Co. Ltd. did not get an increase, it was not the fault of the Canadian Federation of Labor, said Mr. Smith. "We weren't asked to come in and act for you. If you want us to act, we will and get you improved conditions but we won't pull you out on the street to do it. Any fool can call a strike but it takes brains to bargain and get what you want without a strike. We can do that. Look at our record of success without loss of working days."

Mr. Smith said that the C.I.O. had antagonized the management by its methods of organizing. "These men who have organized you have done it in such a way that there is no chance of their getting for you what you want," he said. "Put your faith in us who do you a service, not those who will do you a disservice."

Mr. Smith was asked what were wages in other C.F.L. plants in the leather industry. "We haven't any tanneries affiliated with us at the present time," he said.

"The Davis workers have been affiliated with the Canadian Federation of Labor since 1943 but we have not had any increases. Why?" he was asked. "You had an agreement which has been in force up to now. Now the agreement is ended and it is time to act," Mr. Smith replied.

hopes through its school area plan, to get rid of a 'hot potato'. The department is paying liberally toward secondary education, and on a basis of giving more to the weaker area. If the small schools can be closed and the children lugged from one end of the country to the other by us, to some large school, the department will provide less grant to the large school than it would to a weaker section or area.

"Mr. Duffin knows well how valuable a school is to any town or village, and that the closing of any school would be the biggest blow the place could receive."

"It can be taken as so much bunk the cry of Mr. Duffin that only in the 500 to 1,000 pupil school can proper, all-round education be provided. True there may be a lot of things taught in the very large schools that the smaller school would not touch. But the number who want the odd subject or course not covered in any 150 - 200 - student school is very small indeed, and is not important enough to warrant such large areas as are being sought."

"Mr. Duffin told Ontario county council that the average area being set up is 200 square miles which meant that in Ontario county, Whitby town, East Whitby and Pickering townships would all need to combine to get the required area. It is most unlikely that Mr. Duffin knows anything about the townships to be affected in this area, because he talks largely from maps, and has made some very impracticable suggestions along this line, as it has been proven."

"Township and towns, alike would do well to move slowly in this matter. If the recommendations of the department and Mr. Duffin are followed, education will surely take an upward jump. Imagine Whitby, East Whitby and Pickering having to pay $50,000 per year for transportation alone, and when the bus drivers get well organized that sum will not be sufficient to cover this one item."

"Imagine, too, if you will, drawing pupils from Claremont and Altona districts all the way to Whitby, when they have a good high school at their very door in Stouffville. In school matters there are no county boundaries to be recognized, hence why not send the students to the nearest school available?"

ALBERT BAILEY WINS UNIVERSITY AWARD

Albert Bailey, Prospect St., was honored last week at a banquet in Toronto, held for the ex-service students who attended the special session conducted at the University of Toronto last summer. In presenting four scholarships to students who had achieved high standing in the various courses, Dr. W. R. Taylor, M.A., Ph.D., D.D., principal of University College, said that new records had been set by the students and they had made the extra effort of the special session well worthwhile.

The scholarship awarded to Mr. Bailey was in recognition of his having obtained the highest standing of those enrolled in University College and topping the list for the whole university in the Faculty of Arts. Mr. Bailey, now continuing in second year Arts, is preparing for the ministry of the Presbyterian church and is active in town as the new director of Newmarket Youth for Christ and in other church activities.

In Memoriam

Andrews—In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Agnes N. Andrews, who passed away December 6, 1944. Somewhere beyond the shadows Dwells a dear, sweet mother of mine Whom we looked on as a treasure, Whom we cherished as divine. Forget you, dear mother, no we never will, As years roll on we miss you still. The blow was great, the shock severe, We little thought the end was near. It is only those who have lost can tell The sorrow of parting without farewell. But God is good, He gave us strength To bear our bitter cross. He is the only one who knows How bitter is our loss. Always remembered by son Morley, daughter-in-law Irene, granddaughters Hilda and Helen.

Eveleigh—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Ellen Eveleigh, who passed away December 3, 1940. The rolling stream of time rolls on But still the vacant chair Reminds the love, the voice, the smiles Of one who once sat there. We cannot call the old days back, Her hand we cannot touch, But we treasure happy memories Of a mother we loved so much. Ever remembered by husband and family.

Robertson—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. K. N. Robertson, who died December 5, 1945. Dear mother, sleep thy last sleep, Free from all care and sorrow, Rest, where none weep 'Till the eternal morrow. Lovingly remembered by daughter Jean.

Tait—In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. W. J. Tait, who passed away one year ago, December 4, 1945. Today recalls sad memories Of a dear wife and mother gone to rest And the ones who think of her most today Are the ones who loved her best. Lovingly remembered by husband William and sons David, Bernard and Len.

Tait—In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. W. J. Tait, who passed away one year ago, December 4, 1945. The depths of sorrow we cannot tell Of the loss of one we loved so well, And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep, Her memory we shall always keep. Lovingly remembered by son David and wife Myrtle, grandsons William, Robert and Mahlon, Cannington.

DOWN THE CENTRE

By AL. HULSE

Johnny Atkinson, husky defenceman of last year's Aurora midget hockey team, has decided to throw in his lot with Aurora again, spurning the siren song of Ike Harper and Ken Laushway of Stouffville. That clears up one point of argument between the two clubs, or does it?

Rumor has it that to put itself in a position to claim players territorially over other clubs, the Stouffville team may well be called Victoria Square or some other name, playing its games at Stouffville. That dodge has been tried before and is not likely to go over too well with the O.H.A. if put before them strongly. Two can play at that game and Newmarket might well be called Holland Landing or Keswick and Aurora labelled Elgin Mills or Maple. Cute part of it all is that Stouffville has been entered in the O.H.A. for some weeks under its own name.

With Atkinson at Aurora will be Sandy Neal, up and coming young left winger of the Hill, who also plays a smart game of basketball. Sandy is the son of Reeve Bill Neal, ex-Aurora resident.

Mac Clement has just about decided to play for Chapman's in the junior B series where he rightly belongs, but if he doesn't, he'll likely be with Aurora. That should settle the player situation somewhat.

Doug Moore, who played goal for Stouffville last winter, can play with the Redbirds this winter as far as Aurora is concerned. The Simmons-Holloway-Babcock board of strategy feels it would be unfair to snaffle Moore away from Stouffville and in any case, it is doubtful if Moore could beat out Eric Smith who is looking mighty smart in the Aurora workout. Keith Kyle is battling it out with Smith but will be in reserve most of the season if the stylish "Smitty" keeps up his present form. A cut in the Aurora squad must be made soon as with too many candidates out for practice, those who will be carried fail to get sufficient work.

Ronnie Simmons, clever young pivot player of the Aurora team, ran into a bit of tough luck on Sunday as he lost two teeth, one from the top row and one from the bottom. Tommy Brodie came out of the session nursing a badly bruised hand. While we can't vouch for the accuracy of it, here's the way the railbirds are calling the Aurora team right now: goal, Eric Smith; def., Loring Doolittle, Jack Atkinson, Jack Andrews, Mac Clement, if he turns out and if not, either Howard Patrick or Norm Rank. One forward line will feature Ron Simmons at centre, Bill Mundell at right and Neal at left. Another will have Bill Patrick at centre, Norm Nigh at right and Tom Brodie at left. Bill McGhee, Whitney Jones and one other picked from Walt Davis, Billy Attridge, Ted Cameron and Bill Wilkinson should round out the regular squad.

Why the "caps" above? Well, from all reports, the curly-tatched Nigh lad is just about the top forward prospect of the squad and Jones, who has had junior experience with Newmarket as well as in mercantile hockey, was thought to be too old. Whitney still figures as a junior and he will be a surprise starter with the Aurora boys. That's a pretty fair junior C squad - for Aurora and they should make a good showing, which is as much as you can ask in their first year, though doubtless the paying customers will expect more.

Ted Palmateer, talented young netminder of last year's merchant's team, who also alternated with Norm Stenden at the Hill, will be lost to Harry Thoms' Redmen juniors. Palmateer, now employed in Toronto and still of junior age, is between the pipes for Scarborough Rangers who lost their first start last week to Staff Smythe's Varsity Blues. Herbie Rose, stocky Richmond Hill product, notched one of the Rangers' two goals and drew three-star rating from the Varsity arena fans.

Don Sweet, who hails from down Bowmanville way, looks as if he has the starting netminder's job cinched for Newmarket juniors. Stan Winger is giving Sweet a battle for the post. Ken Broughton will be playing defence regularly this winter and the burly Broughton should do a whole lot better this season from the blueline. Bill Firth, Bob "Speedy" Walker, Aub Smith and Len Bone are all looking powerful on defence. Up front, Ken Thoms, Jack Forhan, Ivan Gibson, Ron Eves, Jimmy Rutledge, Don Brown, Cudmore, Kmet and a couple of lads from Mount Albert are showing nice hockey. We have probably missed one or two lads but these are the main ones that Harry Thoms is tutoring. By the way, Joe Peat is only assistant coach and our apologies go to "Silver" who is carrying the main mentoring burden. The Redmen will be in the fight all the way from the opening whistle.

Newmarket Canadian Legion is entering the sports field by outfitting and equipping the midget team from Canaltown. The Legion boys intend to see the kids get every break this year and their gesture is in the right direction and will pay future dividends. The Legion lads are planning a Christmas "feather party" (fowl raffle to you), around December 20 and it looms up as a "must" on the calendar.

Hoffman Machinery swamped Creemore on Sunday 16-0 in an unofficial practice game at Barrie. Once Johnny Campbell's boys got over a first period sorting out process and found their ice legs, they sped away from the O.R.H.A. intermediate team which were no match for the smoother and more experienced tricolor boys. Looking good for Hoffman's were Mickey Smith, Joe Peat, Mutt Collings, Duke Dennis, Joe Megani, Harry Caradonna, Murph Jelley, "Fink" Tunstead, Russell, Peterman, Groves, Cliff Gunn, Bob Smith among the talent trotted out. Ken Howard is proxy of the team and is one of the busiest workers on the club executive which is really functioning on all fours.

No communiques in from our pals, "Ceogars" McDonald, Bert Ward and Doug May. This trio can generally rattle off a few thousand words on the subject of hockey any time. The plot must be thickening.

According to reports, Bruce Stephens, former Aurora junior, last year with the Hill Combines and Varsity of the Aurora circuit, will wear a Vets' sweater. They made no mistake on that one for Stephens can really dangle.

Herbie Simpson has finally broken his silence to announce the withdrawal of Ballantrae from competition in the Aurora town league. For three years, Herbie and his mates were popular drawing cards in the Aurora circuit and battled through most years to the finals. Herb will be playing at Uxbridge for one of the bush league teams, also at Stouffville and probably with whatever team is formed at Aurora.

On the subject of an Aurora intermediate team for the bush league, offhand we can name Ginger Pugh, Mickey Sutton, Whitey Jones, Harry Sutton, Alf Cotey, Ed McCarty, Tiddies Sutton, Joe McGhee, Turk Ferguson, Ray White, Al White, Doug Nigh as being some of the talent available with plenty more to add. Not an O.H.A. team to be sure, but they're plenty good for a mercantile league.

Active In Church Work,
William Henry Eves Dies
Queensville mourns the passing of one of its prominent citizens. William Henry Eves, 74, who died November 19 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry Smith, after five weeks of illness.
Many residents will remember seeing Mr. Eves' buggy coming across the sidewalk on a Sunday morning in order that his children should attend Sunday school and all would be at church. For some 25 years he was superintendent of Queensville Sunday school and steward of the church. He was also recording steward for the Queensville Methodist circuit when his church was part of the Ravenshoe and Keswick group. He came into union and retained his position of recording steward for the new relation with Hope and Sharon. Thus for some 30 years he has guided and counselled the well being of the religious outlook of this area.
His earlier years were all spent on the home farm on lot 23, con. 4, East Gwillimbury. His father was Alexander Eves and his mother the former Margaret Sweetie. He had one brother and four sisters. Mary became Mrs. G. Atkinson, Toronto, Anna Bell became Mrs. Brock Tilt, Saskatchewan, Cecilia became Mrs. Robert Bond, Queensville. They all predeceased him. Surviving are his widow, Mary Emma (Minnie) Eves, Norman, his brother, Saskatchewan, his sister, Mrs. Z. J. Peters, Indian Head, Sask., his sons, Melvin D., Saskatchewan, and Stanley C., who is on the home farm.
After retiring from the farm he came to live in Queensville village and took up insurance work. He was held in high esteem by all who knew him. Many went to him for counsel and help. Beloved by all, he will be missed both by young and old who looked for him to take his daily trip to the post office.
The crowded church and the large floral tributes testified to the esteem in which he was held. Rev. Albert E. Miller, B. Th., had charge of the service and spoke of the fine fellowship which existed between them. The Queensville United quartette, Gladys Dew, Vera Arnold, Murray Huntley and Terry Doane, sang his favorite hymn, "Some Day the Silver Cord Will Break."
Honorary pallbearers were Wm. Huntley, Wm. Burkholder, Wm. Henry, Archie Dyke, Geo. Barker, Geo. Pearson, James Danne, J. L. Smith, Levi Weddel, Stewart Stickwood. Pallbearers were Lewis Irwin, Willard Cole, Max Batt, Fred Weddel, Wilbert Dew, Allen Baleson. Most of them had served with Mr. Eves on church boards.
Flower bearers were Art Alexander, Bert Boyd, Byron Cunningham, Douglas Beckett, Kenneth Rogers, Henry Hyck, Harry Morton, Clifford Morton, Titus Peregrine, Gordon Cole and Fred Andrews. Interment followed in Queensville cemetery.

In spite of the cold weather Sunday morning, a good crowd attended the Pottageville United church to hear the Toronto Bible College choir of 40 voices. The young people took charge of the service, James Rodenets preaching the sermon and taking as his subject, "Christ in the tomb of Joseph of Arimathea."
A double trio of the Misses Agnes Graveluk, Anne Humenuk, Ruth Falconbridge, Joan Flyer, Fern Blair and Annie Baker sang My Jesus I Love Thee. The choir of mixed voices sang two numbers and the girls' choir sang one. A number of the students gave words of witness. Familiar Name Here
Adolphus H. Lee Dies

Rev. G. H. Bahe, assisted by Rev. Clarke, conducted the funeral services for Adolphus Homer Lee who died at his home, 63 Queen St. East, Newmarket, Tuesday, Nov. 26, at the chapel of Roadhouse and Rose. Mr. Lee had been in failing health for some weeks.

Born in Markham January 20, 1859, he wed the late Emily Wilder 62 years ago. She predeceased him on Oct. 27, 1940.

Retired at the time of his death, Mr. Lee had been a farmer, coming to Newmarket 28 years ago. He was at one time caretaker of the Free Methodist, United and Christian churches here.

A member of the Free Methodist church, Mr. Lee's main interests were concerned with the church to which he belonged. Mr. Lee's grandparents were captured by Indians during early pioneer days when Mr. Lee's father was only a few months old. His grandfather was killed but his grandmother and her son were taken to the Indian camp where mother and son were separated. When the child was returned to his mother, he was more dead than alive but she was able to nurse him back to health and shortly afterwards they escaped.

Surviving Mr. Lee are five sons, Edgar, Toronto, Stuart, Port Colborne, Cecil, Kewick, Chesley, Newmarket, R. L. 2, and Bernard, with whom Mr. Lee lived, Newmarket, two daughters, Lottie, Toronto, Lina, Udonia, and one brother, Albert, Brownhill.

Palibearers were his five sons and Norman Sedore. Interment was in Baldwin cemetery.

'Devil Take Hindmost' Said
Tale Domestic Relations

Speaking on dominion-provincial relations at a meeting of the Home and School Association November 27, Miss Janet Stewart said that it was the duty of each citizen to become informed on matters of public interest so that he can form intelligent opinions. Once these opinions have been formed it is his duty to express them and to do his best to make them heard, she said.

"Everyone must contribute to public opinion or a democratic unity can never be achieved," she said. "Canada has an excellent reputation among nations. We must achieve unity within our own country to keep that reputation."

Miss Stewart is a teacher of history at Newmarket high school.

Miss Stewart went back to 1804 and traced the dominion-provincial relations from that time to the present.

"Being human, the men that drew up the provisions of the British North America Act at the Quebec conference in 1804 did not do a perfect job," she said. "The act, which united the provinces of Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, was scarcely passed when Joseph Howe went about Nova Scotia telling the people, 'Mr. Tupper has sold us to Canada for the price of a sheepskin, 80c a head,' and in 1869 he put the case of Nova Scotia before the British parliament in his effort to dismember confederation."

She said that when the colonies united, they gave up to the new dominion government certain rights of taxation, the most important being the levying and collecting of customs duties. In return they were granted subsidies and a fixed annual grant equal to 80c a person of population. In 1868, Nova Scotia was given better terms. Since then, she said, frequent adjustments have been necessary for each province because of its increased expenses. She cited education as an example of a field in which provincial expenses have greatly increased.

"In addition, by sections 91 and 92, the dominion government was given the power to raise money by any form of taxation, while the provinces were limited to direct taxation. Under section 92, the provinces were given jurisdiction over 'property and civil rights'. Whenever the provinces have felt that their field was being invaded, they have used this power to win favorable decisions from the judicial committee of the privy council in England. Under section 91, on the other hand, the dominion was given the power to act for the 'peace, order and good government' of Canada, especially in times of emergency. These two provisions obviously conflict," she said.

In the depression of the '30's, she said, both the dominion government and the provincial governments used their lack of specific power as an excuse for inaction. In 1937, she continued, the Rowell-Sirois commission was appointed to investigate the situation. Its report was presented to the dominion-provincial conference of 1941. She said that the premiers of Ontario and British Columbia had "walked out". However, since the war had broken out, many of the problems studied by the commission had been solved, at least temporarily, such as unemployment, and that new techniques and philosophies were developed so that now the findings of the Rowell-Sirois commission are virtually obsolete, she said.

"A wartime agreement was drawn up providing that the provinces vacate the field of income and corporation taxes and succession duties, in return for an annual grant. The arrangement proved satisfactory," she said. "At conferences in August, 1945, and January, 1946, in an attempt to readjust relations for postwar reconstruction, the dominion government proposed that the provinces continue to vacate the field of income and corporation taxes in return for annual grants. Considerable wrangling has resulted with Ontario and Quebec the chief objectors. The problem is a lack of co-operation. Every province is out for itself and the devil take the hindmost," she said. "The one bright spot is that at least the government now seems to have a definite reconstruction program but I think that if each province is going to insist on its pound of flesh, Canada is going to become very weak."

Samuel Jefferson, principal at

Alexander Muir school, spoke on The Father of Education in Ontario. He dealt with the life and achievements of Egerton Ryerson, whom he described as the founder of the present system of public schools.

Ryerson was born near London in 1802, he said. His people were United Empire Loyalists who, after leaving the States, settled first in New Brunswick and later came to Ontario. He was fond of reading and got a great deal of his education that way, although he did attend what corresponded to our high school, the speaker said. He also studied at a district school near Hamilton, although he was not an exceptional student. At 18, he left home to join the Methodist Society, although his people were Anglican. At the age of 20 he returned home at his father's request and farmed, according to Mr. Jefferson.

He had sympathy for those lacking advantage. Later he became a Methodist minister and was sent to an Indian reserve and several other rural charges. He made himself thoroughly familiar with rural Canada. He believed deeply in absolute democracy, Mr. Jefferson said.

Between 1820-1830, there was violent feeling in Upper Canada and Ryerson took a leading part in the struggle for responsible government. He attacked the "clergy reserve" which gave one farm out of every seven to the "established" Anglican clergy, and in 1829, as editor of the Christian Guardian, he fought that all churches should share in the reserve.

Through this he aroused a great deal of antagonism, especially from Bishop Strachan. In 1833 he went to England in a move to unite the Methodist churches in Canada and England but while there, he also made many advantageous political connections, the speaker continued.

When he returned to the paper, he said, he aroused criticism through his attacks on Wm. Lyon Mackenzie, until the people also began to deplore Mackenzie's violent tactics.

Ryerson then went back to England to secure funds to establish an academy at Cobourg and was successful. While there he studied politics, continued to make connections and linked himself with education. When Metcalfe was appointed lieutenant governor, he frequently sought Ryerson's advice. Ryerson supported him and won the appointment of superintendent of education. As such he did a good job and in 1846 introduced his now famous bill for education in the colony. This is still the foundation of the public school system, Mr. Jefferson said.

Mr. Jefferson described the growth of the present educational system from 1793 when settlers first began to settle in four districts. In 1792, Simcoe, then governor, petitioned England for four grammar schools, one for each district. In 1797 the king granted 200 pounds for each of the four schools. By the time they were established ten years later, eight schools were needed, so that the royal grant to each school was halved.

In 1816 it was decided that any school section could organize a school if it had 20 pupils. There were to be three trustees for each school to be responsible for getting a teacher, texts and the fees from the parents. Most of the teachers were untrained men who had failed in some other line of business, he said.

In 1823, a board of education for Ontario was formed with Bishop Strachan at the head. He thought that schools should be

Frank Allen, became the bride of William Dalton Richardson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton M. Richardson, Aurora. Rev. R. F. LeDrew officiated. FRED. LONGHURST WAS WELL KNOWN HERE

A well known citizen of this district passed away Nov. 25 in the person of Fred Longhurst. He was born in Scott township Aug. 15, 1867, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Longhurst. He married Sarah Cooper in January, 1893. Three children were born, Mrs. E. Scott (Laura) Mrs. T. Fountain (Edna) and Mervin. They moved in the vicinity of Queensville in 1907 where they lived many years, later moving to Belhaven where Mrs. Longhurst still resides with her son.

Mr. Longhurst had been ailing since July and finally had a serious operation in Toronto Western hospital. The operation was thought to be successful, but because of his age, the shock was too great for his heart. He died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Scott, Toronto.

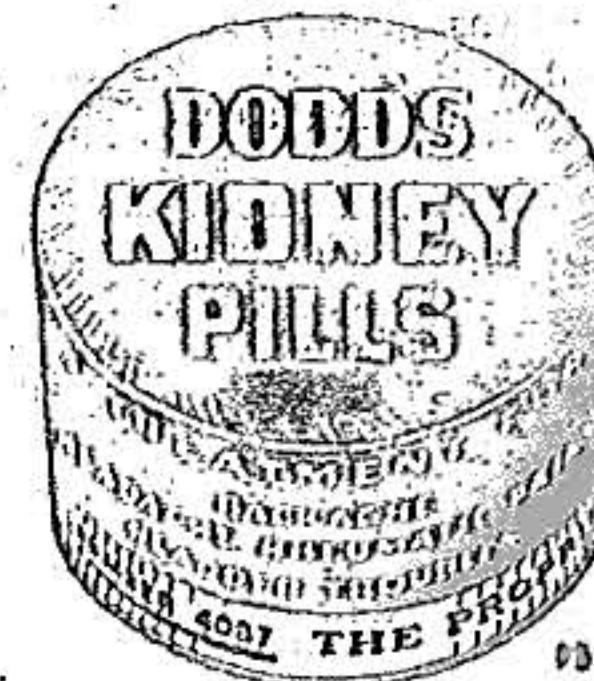

He is survived by his widow and children, seven grandchildren, three great grandchildren, four brothers, Nathan of Zephyr, hockey last week due to O.H.A. aspirations and complications, might do well to ponder a mercantile series with playing rosters wide open and productive of the type of hockey the fans like to see at two-bit prices. They were scheduled to meet on Monday. There should be no reason any of the teams with O.H.A. ideas couldn't get a bye to the playdowns.

Bill Thomas, having received his amateur card as we forecast previously, is content to rest on his well earned laurels and concentrate on refereeing. Thomas is one of the top-ranking O.H.A. officials this year and if he so desires, he can step into the pro ranks about anytime he wants to do so. When the regular season opens, he'll probably do as well as if he were away from home officiating across the border. Still in the thick of second-guessing are such local favorites as Ken Holmeslaw, Pat Patterson, Mo Walsh, Bill Roberts, once the badman of district intermediate hockey and a member of both Newmarket and Sutton intermediates, is handling the T.H.L. games nearly every night and doing right well with the whistle.

Terry Bloech, star of last year's Newmarket camp team and leading scorer of the district mercantile circuit, is back again in the Soo after trying out with Stratford seniors. Walter Zuke is still with the Nationals but Bloech wasn't prepared to sit on the sidelines most of the year.

Buck Davies, ex-Toronto army and a member of the Aurora R.C.O.C. team in 1943, is with Tulsa Oilers and playing better hockey than he has done in several years.

Aurora Lions were the only minor champs not represented at the O.H.A. meeting in Toronto last Saturday. Previous business engagement kept the Aurora boys from being represented. Otto Hardwick, reeve of Bolton and proprietor of the Bolton bandbox arena, was re-elected to an executive post of the O.H.A. for his second or third term. Ken Waters, formerly of Goderich and now in Toronto, who is in line for the presidency of the O.H.A., is an officer with the Queen's York Rangers regiment and naturally enough has a warm spot in his heart for the York county teams now.

Nels Flinday, the Thornhill softballer whose talented play kept the Thornhill boys in the running all year and who single-handedly just about beat the Vets in one game of the play-offs, is in the thick of his curling activities again and he won the first major competition of the season by annexing the R. S. McLaughlin tournament at Oshawa last week. Len McMullen, who used to play third base for Richmond Hill football team, Ray Hodgson, who played softball with Thornhill, and Harry Patterson were members of the winning quartet. We note, too, that Mervin Watts and Tom Birkett, Stouffville, two of the better skips of the district, along with Bob Walton, Agincourt, are early season starters with the broom. The trio are all well known lawn bowlers.

Jimmy Connell will probably only be a name to a good many, but sport fans of the late 20's will remember Jim as the hard hitting outfielder of Aurora's York-Simcoe baseball entry. "Connie" was the teller in the Aurora Bank of Commerce, and was brought here by Alex. Kirkwood who was the moving spirit in baseball in those days. We ran into Connell the other day on Bay St. in Toronto and he hasn't changed a great deal in appearance. Right now he holds a mighty important post in the business world, being assistant sales manager of Hiram Walker's. He sent greetings to his old friends in North York.

We forgot to congratulate Jack Sibbald of Jackson's Point on his acclamation as reeve of Georgina. Jack, it will be recalled, was president of Sutton Greenshirts for a good many years, and after prodigious efforts, ended up as head man of an Ontario titleholder. Dr. Hal Leafoyd, one of the all-time baseball greats of North York who has been on the school board at Sutton for quite a few years, was another who won the unanimous approval of the electors.

Doug Gillespie, presently performing for Owen Sound Mohawks, has been awarded the Croix de Guerre by the French authorities for his war services. Gillespie was the boy who almost by himself eliminated Aurora in the O.H.A. junior "C" finals in 1938 in that well remembered contest at Maple Leaf Gardens which saw Charlie Towntree's men blow an early lead. Since then Gillespie has been with Runnymede C.I., Marlborough, and Staffords as well as serving overseas with the 30th Battery. He is bridegroom of recent weeks and one of Chuck Shannon's best performers.

Two news dispatches bring back memories of yesteryear. Aubrey "Dit" Clapper, coach of Boston Bruins, Newmarket-born and Aurora-raised, came out of retirement last week to lead his Bruins out of an early season case of doldrums and mark his 20th year of N.H.L. competition all with the same club, a record that is not likely to be ever equalled in professional or amateur hockey. Clapper is still plenty good at the age of 40 and while he won't play regularly, he will take his spots as occasion demands.

Back in 1926, while a student at Queen's University, we saw an unheralded Ottawa Gunners team oust Toronto Marlboros from the eastern Canada title in a surprise win at Kingston. That was the year we had expected to see a homebrew Newmarket Redmen club in action, but it was defeated in the O.H.A. finals by the Dukes who had Charlie Conacher, Harvey Jackson and Red Horner in their line-ups.

A slim fairheaded kid by the name of Syd Howe was the star of the Gunners team that year. Afterwards he went on to scale the heights and became a big cog in the Detroit Red Wing machine. This year he retired from pro hockey, and right now he is due to receive his amateur card and play as a simon pure in Ottawa, his home city.

Teddy Listy, one of the big guns of the Brampton camp team, is playing senior hockey at South Porcupine and looking good as ever. As will be recalled, his buddy, Joe Iannarelli, who led the district scoring race, is with Omaha this season but another Iannarelli, Joe's younger brother, Frank, is on the same team as Teddy.

Sparky Vall played one benefit game this season up north and then switched back to refereeing in which he made his debut last season. The former toast of Newmarket is another ex-player who calls them without fear or favor and he will likely be seen in these parts as an official when the north comes south in the play-offs.

Blondie Prokop, ex-Owen Sound boy and picked by us on our first junior all-star team in 1940, has joined John McCormack and Tommy Burlington at Providence after starting the season with Philadelphia. The three boys were all standouts in junior "B" in '40 and Burlington and Prokop were bitter rivals of McCormack. The Reds have improved their play in recent weeks and look sure of a play-off post.

We wonder who Newmarket fans cheer for when Hershey plays Providence? Newmarket

Reeves Complain Of Condition of Townline

(Stouffville Tribune)

Reeve L. P. Evans and Deputy-Reeve Ed. Logan of Whitchurch both spoke in county council recently on the bad condition of the Markham-Whitchurch townline, west of Stouffville.

The York county council was considering the report of the good roads commission when the members lodged their complaint. Commissioner Gardhouse admitted in reply that the road was bad, and previous complaint had been registered from Stouffville. He promised consideration at an early date, but that funds were simply not available this year to re-top the highway which accommodates converging traffic from the two townships.

Bruce McMillan Tells Of Purchase Of Tractor, Disc

The following statement was issued by Bruce McMillan in reply to remarks allegedly made by Benjamin Johnston, candidate for reeve of North Gwillimbury, at the recent nomination for that township:

"At North Gwillimbury nomination meeting, Benjamin Johnston, candidate for reeve, made a remark intended to give the people the idea that at the time the tractor was bought for the gravel pit, I was taken special care of with regard to an implement I bought from the same party who sold the tractor.

"He did not give any particulars of the deal for the good reason that the facts would not agree with what he wanted to put over. I was not in the hall at the time or the meeting would have had the facts right there. Neither the members of the 1944 council nor myself have anything to hide about the deal and this is the truth about them:

"In 1944, W. A. King, a member of the council, told me a party at Minnesing had a tractor and a one-way disc for sale and wanted to sell both machines at once. He gave the prices and said he thought the tractor was a good buy for the township. He asked if I would be interested in the one-way disc and I said 'yes'. The same proposition was put up to at least one other farmer in the township. I said I would buy the one-way disc if it suited me when I saw it.

"The council sent Arthur Pollock with Mr. King to examine the tractor and if Mr. Pollock's report was good they were authorized to buy it for $475. I went to Minnesing with them. The tractor was bought for the township and the township paid for it. I bought the one-way disc at $140 and paid the seller for it myself. These were two separate deals. No other money changed hands and there was no graft or favor about it. All this can be proven to be the truth.

"Is Mr. Johnston concerned with the interests of this township in trying to make these transactions look like a cheap smear on some members of the present council and myself?"

Mrs. R. J. D. Simpson, Toronto, president of Toronto Centre Presbyterial W.M.S., and Mrs. Hickinson, superintendent of the Baby Band department, were guests at the annual Baby Band party in Keswick United church. Members of the local W.M.S. assisted Mrs. Morton in the program of songs, games, stories, brief talks and refreshments. MAGISTRATE'S COURT
UNDER $1,000 BOND
ON THREAT CHARGES

Robert Sherwood, Pefferlaw, was required to enter a $1,000 bond to keep the peace two years when sentenced in magistrate's court on Friday. Magistrate W. E. McIlveen presided. Sherwood had been arraigned the week previous on charges of threatening to kill four men in Georgina and of unlawfully wounding two horses, the property of Fred Rye. The four men whom he is charged with threatening are Robert Weir, clerk of Georgina township, George Burgess, assessor of Georgina township, Bert Riddle, a councillor, and Bert Owens, a barber at Baldwin.

Sherwood, who is 66 and nearly deaf and who, according to Paul Hinds who represented him, is physically unsound, said that he had worked hard all his life, that he had never hurt anyone and did not intend to and that he had lived alone since 1928. He said that he owned several hundred acres of land and had money in the bank as the result of years of toil and saving. Mr. Hinds said that he was physically incapable of doing any harm. Conditions of his bond were that he keep the peace toward everyone and especially those whom he had threatened and that he should not have firearms in his possession. The bond is to be retained for a period of two years. The crown did not proceed on the wounding charge.

James and John Brydon were given the benefit of the doubt and charges against them of assaulting three Jehovah witnesses, heard last week, were dismissed.

Mason E. Bowell pleaded not guilty to having liquor in an illegal place and was released. Provincial Constable W. A. Melbourne said that he had stopped the accused on No. 11 highway and found part of a bottle of liquor in the glove compartment of the car. Bowell claimed that he had been on his way to a hunting camp where he had intended staying overnight. He was given the benefit of the doubt.

Glynn Davies pleaded guilty to having a dog in his possession without a license, but said that since he could not afford the license he had since disposed of the dog. He was remanded for sentence with payment of costs.

Mrs. Robert Goheen pleaded not guilty to having a dog without a license. She said that she had disposed of the dog before the notice saying dogs must be licensed appeared in The Era and Express. She was remanded for sentence on payment of costs. G. W. Curtis laid the two charges.

Frederic Foy and Bernard Labraico, both of Toronto, pleaded guilty to speeding charges laid by Provincial Constable Melbourne. Foy also pleaded guilty to failure to produce a 1946 license. He was fined $10 and costs while Labraico was fined $8 and costs.

under the control of the church, said Mr. Jefferson. He also thought that schools were "for the classes, not the masses". He established universities and private schools but hindered the formation of public schools. There was no uniform curriculum in the schools, according to Mr. Jefferson.

As soon as Ryerson was given the appointment of superintendent in 1844, he asked for leave and went to England, Ireland, Europe and the U.S.A. to study educational systems. In 1845 he made his report and in 1846 his bill, "which is the highlight in the advance of education in the province," was introduced.

It provided for a school board consisting of six members and a superintendent, the latter to be appointed by the lieutenant governor. It also suggested a school for the training of teachers and in 1847 the first one was set up. The bill also provided for organized school sections. It also provided for the appointment of trustees for three-year terms with one retiring each year. It outlined the duties of the teachers and provided for separate schools. In the main, it is the foundation of the public school today, he declared.

In 1871, Ryerson sponsored his last bill, providing for trained school inspectors, compulsory free education and licenses for teachers.

Stouffville Reeve, Council
Acclaimed To Office

(Stouffville Tribune)

Reeve: A. V. Nolan
Councillors: Hugh Boyd, John Smits, Frank Rowbotham, Bert Bell.

Candidates for the office of reeve, councillors, members of the board of education and one cemetery commissioner were all accorded acclamation at a well attended nomination meeting in Stouffville on November 22. Following the nomination hour (7.30 to 8.30 o'clock), a public meeting was held which lasted until after ten o'clock. Geo. Storey, returning officer, acted as chairman.

Reeve A. V. Nolan was acclaimed for the third time. Also returned by acclamation were Hugh Boyd and John Smits, councillors, while two new councillors acclaimed are Frank Rowbotham and Bert Bell. Members of 1946 council, R. E. Brown and E. A. Button, did not enter the contest. Mr. Brown has been ill and Mr. Button said he wished to retire.

Three members of the board of education were elected by acclamation. Ambrose Stover, Frank Riches, last year members, and Hugh Bannerman, a new man.

Reeve Nolan spoke at some length saying the council was not proud of its road program effort this year. While $2,000 had been raised for spending on tarvia top roads, the Jupp Construction Co. fell down on carrying out the contract. The company could not meet its program for various reasons and Stouffville was one of 30 other towns left out this year. However, the reeve said the money raised would be doubled this coming year and a double program carried out that would look more attractive to the Jupp people.

Speaking at length on the water system of the town, he warned that increased rates were just ahead. Since 1940 there had been $1,000 more spent on the system than the total receipts for that period, and at that, much work is still needed. The system is growing older and bigger and present rates for water were fantastically below anything charged in York county. Many small local pipes laid over the years now should be replaced with four-inch iron piping before the small pipes give out. Additional hydrants are being demanded by the fire underwriters.

He warned that Stouffville faced the prospect of being declared an unprotected town by the fire underwriters if the system was not improved.

Mr. Nolan cited the Markham rates which showed that the service for which Stouffville pays $4 per year costs the householders there $10, while the water which is metered out here at nine cents per M gallon costs 22 cents in Markham and still more in Richmond Hill and Uxbridge.

The reeve touched on the school situation which, he said, might worsen if Ontario county did not see its way clear to give Stouffville a portion of Pickering township in this high school area.

The question to be voted on December 9 for the procuring of a community hall, so badly needed here, was mentioned briefly and it was pointed out that if the hall cost the ratepayers $25,000 in debentures running for 20 years, the annual payment could be made without increased taxation owing to the large school and road debentures coming off in the next two or three years.

Councillor E. A. Button thanked those who nominated him for a third term but stated that he wished to retire from office.

Councillor Boyd reiterated what the reeve had said regarding the condition of the water system and the need for additional funds.

Councillor Smits, member of the road committee, said that the need for more maintenance work was apparent in his department and promised his support to the hiring of a full-time man for the roads and water works, if returned to office.

C. H. Bell, implement dealer, Harold Spofford, merchant, and Frank Rowbotham, retired citizen, all nominated for the position of councillor, thanked those who had proposed their names.

D. R. Chadwick, chairman of the board of education, told the gathering that the attendance at the high school had increased 100 percent in the last nine years. He said that 160 were now attending high school and 185 in the public school, each with six teachers.

The report of the high school inspector was very gratifying and he cited several passages which stated that the teaching was of a high order.

WHY PEOPLE ARE CHEAP

There is nothing wrong with the people except there are too many of us. Any crop is cheap when there is overproduction. —Brandon Sun

To the Electors

East Gwillimbury

At the request of a large number of the electors of East Gwillimbury, I again offer myself as candidate for a seat on the township council. Although unsuccessful in my last election campaign, I polled 63 percent of the vote in my own subdivision. This, I believe, speaks for my record as a village trustee in Holland Landing.

I have always taken an active part in municipal affairs. Single-handed, I was responsible for having the county authorities assume responsibility for the upkeep of the old tow road in Holland Landing.

If elected, I will continue to fight for the best interests of the township at large. My program is one of progressive action and economy.

As one of the first Canadian winners of the Military Medal in the war of 1914-18, I solicit your support in the forthcoming campaign.
